INDEX TO AUTHORS AND TITLES IN VOLUME XIII

"American Studies: Its Development and Status as a Discipline," by David M. Landry, 151–57.

"An Analysis of Soviet and Chinese Broadcasts Concerning U.S. Involvement in Vietnam," by Birthney Ardoin and James L. Hall, 175–80.

Anglin, Jay P., "The Fundamentals of Genealogy: A Neglected but Fertile New Field for Professional Historians?" 145–50.

Ardoin, Birthney and James L. Hall, "An Analysis of Soviet and Chinese Broadcasts Concerning U.S. Involvement in Vietnam," 175–80.

Brown, Bahngrell W., "The First Hundred Years of Geology in Mississippi," 295–302.

Brown, Kevan, "Telltale Poetry: A Study of the Four Courtiers in Love's Labour's Lost," 83–92.

Cameron, Colleen, "The Structure-Performance Hypothesis," 303–12.

"A Case Study of the Evolution of a Monetary Economy in the Sierra Region of Peru," by David M. Landry, 313–22.

"The Clensyng of Mannes Soule: An Introductory Study," by Walter Everett, 265–80.

"The Criminal Justice System and the Role of Education," by Tyler Fletcher, 119–30.

"The Current State of Romanian Foreign Policy," by Bill Jackson, 229–40.

"Donne's 'Obsequies to the Lord Harrington': Theme, Structure and Image," by Philip C. Kolin, 65–82.

"The Education of Archivists: Needs as Perceived by Sampling of the Profession in the South," by George W. Whitbeck, 131–44.

Everett, Walter, "The Clensyng of Mannes Soule: An Introductory Study," 265–80.

Fike, Claude E., "Whither the Social Sciences?" 93–100.

"The First Hundred Years of Geology in Mississippi," by Bahngrell W. Brown, 295–302.

Fletcher, Tyler, "The Criminal Justice System and the Role of Education," 119–30.

"Franfreluche Et Gaudichon: A Rabelaisian Pastiche," by Ronald G. McCrary and Judith D. McCrary, 207–16.

"Franz Werfel's Early Lyrical Work with Four Poems Newly Translated," by Karl Neumann, 241–64.

"The Fundamentals of Genealogy: A Neglected but Fertile New Field for Professional Historians?" by Jay P. Anglin, 145–50.

Gladden, James W., "A New Direction in Geography," 159–67.

Glick, Lester J, "Social Science Education: Traditional or Competency-Based?" 101–107.

Harper, Glenn T., "The Spanish Republic and the Great Powers, 1873–1874," 281–94.

"An Historical Analysis of the Family Life of the Choctaw Indians," by Jon A. Schlenker, 323–334.

"Incremental Change in a Changing Society: Suggested Reforms for the Mississippi Legal System," by Ronald G. Marquardt, 53–64.

Jackson, Bill, "The Current State of Romanian Foreign Policy," 229–40.

Kolin, Philip C., "Donne's 'Obsequies to the Lord Harrington': Theme, Structure, and Image," 65–82.

Kuttner, Robert E., "Paleolinguistic Evidence For Social Dominance In Early Human Cultures," 169–74.

Landry, David M., "American Studies: Its Development and Status as a Discipline," 151–57.

Landry, David M., "A Case Study of the Evolution of a Monetary Economy in the Sierra Region of Peru," 313–322.
Landry, David M., "A Socio-economic View of Politics in Mississippi," 217–28.

Marquardt, Ronald G., "Incremental Change in a Changing Society: Suggested Reforms for the Mississippi Legal System," 53–64.
McCrary, Ronald G. and Judith D. McCrary, "Franfreluche Et Gaudichon: A Rabelaisian Pastiche," 207–16.
McCraw, Harry Wells, "Two Novelists of Despair: James Anthony Froude and William Hale White," 21–51.
McKee, Jesse O., "The Utilization of Human Resources: A Spatial Analysis of Manufacturing Employment in Mississippi," 1–20.
Moorman, Charles, "There Are No Chi Omegas At Purdue," 181–87.

Neumann, Karl, "Franz Werfel's Early Lyrical Work with Four Poems Newly Translated," 241–64.
"A New Direction in Geography," by James W. Gladden, 159–67.
"New Techniques in Geography," by Charles T. Traylor, 109–17.

"Otto Abetz and the Question of a Franco-German Reconciliation, 1919–1939," by John E. Wallace, 189–206.

"Paleolinguistic Evidence For Social Dominance in Early Human Cultures," by Robert E. Kuttner, 169–74.

Schlenker, Jon A., "An Historical Analysis of the Family Life of the Choctaw Indians," 323–334.
"Social Science Education: Traditional or Competency-Based?" by Lester J. Glick, 101–107.
"A Socio-economic View of Politics in Mississippi," by David M. Landry, 217–28.

"The Spanish Republic and the Great Powers, 1873–1874," by Glenn T. Harper, 281–94.
"The Structure-Performance Hypothesis," by Colleen Cameron, 303–312.
"Telltale Poetry: A Study of the Four Courtiers in Love's Labour's Lost," by Kevan Brown, 83–92.
"There Are No Chi Omegas At Purdue," by Charles Moorman, 181–87.
Traylor, Charles T., "New Techniques in Geography," 109–17.
"Two Novelists of Despair: James Anthony Froude and William Hale White," by Harry Wells McCraw, 21–51.
"The Utilization of Human Resources: A Spatial Analysis of Manufacturing Employment in Mississippi," by Jesse O. McKee, 1–20.

Wallace, John E., "Otto Abetz and the Question of a Franco-German Reconciliation, 1919–1939," 189–206.
Whitbeck, George W., "The Education of Archivists: Needs as Perceived by Sampling of the Profession in the South," 131–44.
"Whither the Social Sciences?" by Claude E. Fike, 93–100.